HOTEL PELIROCCO, BRIGHTON, ENGLAND

Variouly described as the UK's most rock 'n roll place to stay and the sexiest hotel ever created, Brighton's Pelirocco takes the 'theme' idea to extremes, with each room taking on its own very distinct character.

From the 'pin-up parlour' inspired by Diana Dors to a decadent bedroom with bold burlesque styling, the hotel is almost painfully hip – even the bar is equipped with video games consoles.

THE AUGUSTINE HOTEL, PRAGUE, CZECH REPUBLIC

London-based interior design firm RDD has recently completed work on The Augustine Hotel in Prague, which is made up of a complex jigsaw of seven old buildings, including a 13th-century monastery – several practising monks still live in a separate part of the monastery, adjacent to the hotel grounds.

Centrally located in the Czech capital, the site is a UNESCO heritage-listed building, so the redevelopment of the site into a 101-room hotel required not only significant work but a highly sensitive approach to both the design and construction process.

“THERE'S NO SHORTAGE OF INSPIRATION TO BE HAD FROM SOME OF THESE LESS-THAN-CONVENTIONAL SCHEMES”

SANCTUM SOHO HOTEL, LONDON, ENGLAND

A celebration of edgy glamour and individuality, Sanctum Soho Hotel pays homage to Soho's history as a hubbub of artistic and bohemian life. Features include an underground cinema and a roof-top garden with a 24-hour bar and al fresco hydro spa.

The interior design, by Lesley Purcell at Can Do, is complemented by ever changing artwork from London-based artist Xavier Pick.
